

Allyear

Inspired by the vibrancy and tactility of the surrounding flowers in the landscape during the warmer months Allyear installations wants to bring feeling of color through visual exploration and touch to the colder months of the Les Jardins de Métis. Curved structure of the installation playfully reaches for the sun inviting everyone to come closer and experience flower-like field atmosphere. Circle hula-hoop-like vertical openings provide playful experience of discovery inviting everyone to engage with the installation by crawling and climbing. The tactile materials and color of soft stretched ropes invite dynamic navigation through exploration and touch.

Planted garden beds around and inside the Allyear include high grass and native flowers that blend the installation with the surrounding landscape during warmer months. In a winter Allyear stands on a background of a less color vibrant landscape bringing a little bit of flower like qualities to the park in the colder months.
