Abacus of plants

What Weather will be tomorrow?

Abacus of clouds

Cumulonimbus (Cb)

Cirrocumuls (Cc)

5

4

3

Altostratus (As)

Stratus (St)

Magic bean plant

Tillandsia

Muhlenbergia 'White Cloud'

Baptisia 'Dark Net'

The sky, a timeless guide for humans, has long symbolized transience and impermanence, and inspired a sense of wholeness that transcends borders.

Drawing from this celestial motif, the project introduces a suspended garden of "clouds" that envelop visitors in a changing atmosphere between earth and sky.

Crafted from tissues of varied textures and porosities, the clouds are anchored by bamboo poles at varying heights, evoking the polymorphic and ephemeral nature of real clouds.

Some are interwoven with climbing and aerial plants, introducing natural life into this suspended tapestry.

Beneath, a uniform green ground cover acts like a boundless ocean, where spatial references are provided only by the clouds above. Two clouds descend to ground to form interactive rooms: one allows visitors to move through songs that talk about clouds, and to contribute to a shared playlist of sounds, crossing cultures and languages. In the other, visitors view and engage with a collection of sky photos, adding their perspectives. en and the ever-changing sky.

Plan_1:100

Altocumuls (Ac)

PALETTE BLOOMS

0 Km

