

MELT

1. Design inspiration: Due to the increasingly severe melting of glaciers caused by the greenhouse effect, this design revolves around glacier melting.

2. Design philosophy: The entire work pursues a sense of fragmentation, with the environment being destroyed and the home on which humanity relies for survival becoming precarious. With water as the main element, the "wound" caused by human activities at the top is torn and pulled, and the melted water flows down, merging with the Earth. Finally, the Earth gradually melted, becoming difficult to support and overflowing. We hope to remind people to take care of the environment and reduce greenhouse gas emissions through the presentation of our works.
